

Karen Waconda-Lewis is a native from Laguna and Isleta Pueblos. She is the director for the Center for Native American Integrative Healing which offers traditional healing and ceremonies to serve all beings. Karen completed the Community Dharma Leader program at Spirit Rock, and is cofounder of the annual Native Healers' Silent Retreat and ABQ People of Color & Allies Sangha. Among her many activities, Karen often leads instructional sittings for dharma teachers and community programs in blending Native and Buddhist teaching nationwide.